1. After introducing him/herself at the beginning of the sale hour, the Auctioneer shall distribute a Bidding Rules sheet to all interested parties.
2. The Auctioneer shall instruct each person to read the Bidding Rules and if they are willing to bid in accordance with said Rules, they must sign their sheet before bidding begins. At the end of the sale bidders may report to room #1711 where a receipt verifying their purchase will be available. In order to continue having bidding privileges, potential bidders shall renew their agreement to abide by the Bidding Rules every year.
3. The Auctioneer shall begin the sale by reading the commonly known address as well as the opening bid for each piece of property.
4. The auction begins at 11:00 a.m. Bidding begins at approximately 11:45 a.m. The Auctioneer is in complete control of the auction. The Auctioneer shall ask all bidders to verbally inform the Auctioneer that they want to bid on a given piece of property. Written bids, hand signals and the like will not be recognized as a bidder must orally place the opening of one dollar ($1.00) over the starting bid. The Auctioneer will then ask for competitive bids. Where there are no competitive bids, the Auctioneer will state the present bid and close the sale if no other bids are placed.
5. The Deputy Sheriff has the authority to check for funds. Frivolous bidding (bidding without the required funds) shall not be tolerated. When a bidder bids the price up and upon checking funds, is found not to have the requisite amount, the bid shall return to the most recent bid with confirmed funds.
6. When there is competitive bidding, the Auctioneer shall record each bid and the name of the person who places the bid. The Auctioneer sets the bidding increments depending on how the bidding is proceeding. The bidding increments are $1000.00, $2,000.00, etc. The Auctioneer must be sensitive to the patterns among the bidders and set the increments accordingly.
7. THERE IS NO GUARANTEE THAT THE PROPERTY WILL BE VACANT

(The bidder must have previously confirmed funds totaling the entire bid amount)
